ROBERT GLAZER

Founded and built a global $20M business that's widely recognized as a best place to work

BESTSELLING AUTHOR | ENTREPRENEUR | KEYNOTE SPEAKER
Many business leaders believe that it’s not possible to have a company culture that’s both healthy and high performing. The truth is they can have both, and the former drives the latter.

Robert Glazer teaches business leaders to build a world class employee culture, offering them model for attracting and retaining the right people.

As a speaker, he demonstrates the five critical elements of great culture and how they can be applied to any organization. With his guidance, audience members learn to develop a strong culture supported by continuous feedback and psychological safety. This in turn leads to improved performance and employee engagement.
SPEAKING TOPICS

Companies don’t have to choose between treating people well and setting high expectations. Robert demonstrates the five elements of great culture and how to apply them to any organization.

CREATING A WORLD CLASS, HIGH-PERFORMING CULTURE

The two weeks notice paradigm is a broken system, for employees AND employers. A Mindful Transition program is a better way to address employee engagement.

MINDFUL TRANSITION: ENDING TWO WEEKS NOTICE

A hard truth to accept is that most of us are living below our full potential. Robert shares a framework any person can use to improve performance and set and achieve fulfilling goals.
